Spiritual Alliance of Communities for Reproductive Dignity (SACReD)

SACReD is an alliance of religious leaders, congregations, movement organizations, activists, and academics collaborating to advance Reproductive Justice through congregational education, culture change, community building, and direct service.

Vision

In a SACReD world, religious communities shift
the culture to make Reproductive Justice a lived reality.

Mission

Our mission is to create and equip a network of spiritual communities with liberative religious education & practices that shift our culture to advance Reproductive Justice.

We affirm bodily autonomy and moral agency, celebrate healthy sexuality, and advocate for reproductive dignity to support the flourishing of all people and families.

About A SACReD Journey Facilitator Training

Welcome to A SACReD Journey, a curriculum that invites people of faith to engage Reproductive Justice, its history, human rights principles, and activist agenda - from within the context of your faith tradition and community life.

You may have encountered the SACReD Curriculum in the past few years, the core of our programming. We developed a beta version of this curriculum and trained over 400 facilitators from 30 religious traditions and denominations, and 30 different states to test the curriculum in their own communities and give us feedback. Now, we are proud to launch the revised curriculum: A SACReD Journey!

We are delighted to also announce that, in partnership with National Council of Jewish Women, we have developed a version of the curriculum specifically tailored to Jewish communities!

Why Support A SACReD Journey Facilitator Training

With the rise of Christian Nationalism and religious-based attacks on our bodily autonomy multi-faith collaboration and learning is needed more than ever:

Within the world's religions are bedrock ethics, narratives, beliefs, and rituals that support justice, human rights, liberation from all oppression, and community flourishing. This curriculum is an invitation for people of faith to constructively wrestle with the relationship between the ethical principles of Reproductive Justice and both the oppressive and liberative aspects of their religious traditions. A SACReD Journey guides participants through these stories toward actions that support Reproductive Justice because of their deepest faith commitments, not in spite of them.

Working together, we can change the culture around faith and reproductive dignity and inspire people to advance RJ by strengthening their communities and working to change public policies.

We need you on this collective journey! You can be a part of the sea change needed by becoming a sponsor and making it possible for more people to become A SACReD Journey Facilitator.
